1 Introduction

1.1 Purpose of This Directive

Directive 068 provides information and direction regarding

- the calculation, collection, and use of security deposits under the Oil and Gas Conservation Rules (OGCR), Geothermal Resource Development Rules (GRDR), and Brine-hosted Mineral Resource Development Rules (BMRDR) and
- the cash and letters of credit (LOCs) provided to the AER to satisfy security deposit requirements under the energy resource enactments, including their form, use, and refund.

This directive does not apply to security programs administered under the specified enactments (e.g., the Mine Financial Security Program, which is a liability management program under the Environmental Protection and Enhancement Act).

For the purpose of this directive, the following terms are defined:

- “Cash” means both Canadian currency and a negotiable financial instrument payable in Canadian currency and includes a cheque, money order, or bank draft.
- “Eligible financial institution” means all federally regulated Schedule I and II banks, as set out in the Bank Act (Canada), the Alberta Treasury Branch, and Alberta-based credit unions.

Questions regarding this directive should be directed to Directive068@aer.ca.

1.2 AER Requirements

Requirements are mandatory. The term “must” indicates a requirement, and terms such as “should,” “recommends,” and “expects” indicate a recommended practice. For ease of reference, requirements are numbered. Information on compliance and enforcement can be found on the AER website.

Because oilfield waste management facilities are included in the scope of this directive, but are approved rather than licensed, the terms “licence” and “licensee” are to be read as also including oilfield waste management approvals and oilfield waste management approval holders. The term “facility” includes oilfield waste management facilities.

1.3 What's New in This Edition

This edition has been updated with the ongoing consolidation and integration of requirements as part of the ongoing implementation of the Liability Management Framework \(LMF\).

Updates also include consequential amendments following the publication of the Brine-Hosted Mineral Resource Development Rules.

Section 3 contains information on security deposits under the Oil and Gas Conservation Rules \(OGCR\), previously provided in Directive 088, so that all security requirements are consolidated into one directive. This section begins to outline when security deposits are required and how they will be determined as well as how security deposits will be handled during the transition to the new liability management framework. Further OGCR security requirements will be added as part of the new security framework.

Section 6 provides clarity on how interest incurred on security deposits will be managed by the AER.

Section 7 has been updated to clarify requirements and process for licensees submitting a request for a refund.

2 General Provisions

The AER is authorized to collect security deposits under various provisions in its legislation, such as Part 1.1 of the Oil and Gas Conservation Rules \(OGCR\), section 11 of the Geothermal Resource Development Rules \(GRDR\), and section 13 of the Brine-Hosted Mineral Resource Development Rules \(BMRDR\).

Section 3 only applies to licences and approvals issued under the OGCR. All other sections apply to licences and approvals issued under the OGCR, GRDR, and BMRDR.

1) Security deposits must be provided as directed by the AER.

3 OGCR Security Deposits

Part 1, specifically section 1.100, of the OGCR gives the AER broad authority to require security deposits across the energy development life cycle to offset the estimated costs of carrying out activities necessary to ensure the protection of the public and the environment and to address regulatory and liability obligations, including closure.

Where security deposits are required, the AER will direct a licensee to provide security, specifying the amount and date due.

When considering whether to require security deposits and when determining the amount of security, the AER will, unless otherwise indicated, consider the holistic licensee assessment to mitigate the potential risks with a focus on the following licensee capability assessment (LCA) factors:

- financial health
- total magnitude of estimated liability or change in magnitude of estimated liability
- remaining lifespan of mineral resources and infrastructure
- rate of closure activities and spending and pace of inactive liability growth

When security is determined to be required, the following factors may be used for calculating the amount of security that the AER could require:

- value of liability under Directive 011
- marginal wells (wells producing 1.59 cubic metres of oil equivalent per day [ten barrels of oil equivalent per day] or less)
- inactive wells (defined in Directive 013)
- inactive facilities (defined as facilities with no activity for 12 months)
- value of Directive 001 site-specific liability
- present value of future cash flow based on the reserves and economic analysis
- any other amount that AER considers appropriate in the circumstance

3.1 Application Security

3.1.1 Oilfield Landfills Security

- 2) Where an approval is required in respect of an oilfield waste management facility landfill, the applicant for the approval must provide security in accordance with this directive and section 1.1 of the OGCR before construction or operation of the facility commences.
- 3) The amount of security to be provided for an oilfield landfill before construction or operation is
 - a) the total amount (100%) of the costs set out in the site-specific liability assessment prepared and submitted under Directive 011 and Directive 001, and
 - b) any further amount the AER determines is appropriate after review of the site-specific liability assessment.

The AER will review the site-specific liability assessment and determine whether the amount of security provided for the oilfield landfill is sufficient for the estimated costs associated with the suspension, abandonment, remediation, and surface land reclamation of the facility.

- 4) An approval holder of an oilfield landfill must not commence modifications to the facility until the site-specific liability assessment has been updated in accordance with Directive 011 and Directive 001 and any additional security required has been provided.

3.1.2 Transfer Application Security

To offset any potential increase in risk that may arise from a licence transfer, a transferor or transferee may be required, as a condition of approval, to provide a security deposit to the AER.

The holistic licensee assessment is used to determine whether security deposits are required from the transferor or transferee and the amount of security required. The AER does not provide a preliminary determination of expected security requirements. Security cannot be determined until the licence transfer application has been received and reviewed. Section 6.1.2 of Manual 023 provides the ranges of security that may be required at time of transfer.

If a required security deposit is not received by the due date identified by the AER, the licence transfer application will be closed, and the transferor will remain the licensee.

If the transfer results in a reduction of the total amount of security deposit required for either the transferee or the transferor, a request for refund of security may be submitted to the AER in accordance with section 7.

3.2 Security Deposits for Mandatory Spend Obligations

The AER will determine a threshold for when licensees may elect to provide a security deposit in the full amount of their mandatory spend instead of achieving the mandatory spend through closure work (security deposit in lieu). This threshold will be assessed annually and provided in OneStop.

- 5) A licensee who meets the threshold and elects to provide a security deposit in lieu for a calendar year must provide the deposit (in the amount of the mandatory spend) to the AER by December 31 of the same calendar year.
- 6) If a licensee fails to meet Directive 088 requirements for its annual mandatory spend, the licensee must provide a security deposit in the amount required to meet their mandatory spend that was not met (difference of reported spend and licensee-specific spend).

3.3 Security Deposits During Transition to the New Liability Management Framework

Security currently held under rescinded liability management programs will be held in the form it was submitted for the licensee that provided the deposit. Security will remain held for each licensee throughout implementation of new security approach until the licensee has been assessed under the new framework. As the AER implements the new security approach, the security required will be evaluated to determine if the amount of security held is sufficient under the new liability management framework.

- 7) If a licensee wants security held for rescinded programs to be considered when submitting an application for a licence transfer, the licensee must make a request for security evaluation as part of its application.

If a licensee has accrued interest for security held under rescinded directives, the AER will continue to hold that interest as interest, rather than as security, under the new security approach.

As the AER continues to implement the liability management framework, it will apply the authorities under the OGCR and existing requirements, including security deposit requirements outlined in this directive, during this transitional period. Security will continue to be required, if necessary, based on the holistic assessment of a licensee at the time of application (e.g., oilfield waste facility) or throughout the life cycle (e.g. licensee management).

4 Forms of Security Deposit

The AER will accept only cash and LOCs meeting the requirements of this directive to satisfy its security deposit requirements under the OGCR, GRDR, and BMRDR.

The AER will only accept a security deposit from the licensee required to submit the security deposit or from a trustee, receiver, or receiver manager acting on behalf of that licensee. The AER is unable to accept a security deposit provided by one licensee to satisfy the security deposit requirements of another licensee.

- 8) An LOC or financial instrument provided to the AER to satisfy a security deposit requirement must designate the AER as the beneficiary and include applicable information to designate which program or application the security deposit requirement is provided for.
- 9) The AER will accept either the letter of notification of security owed or the Security Deposit Submission form for designating which program or application the security deposit requirement is provided for. (The Security Deposit Submission form can be found on the Directive 068 homepage, aer.ca > Regulating Development > Rules and Directives > Directives > Directive 068).

A licensee may change the form of its security deposit from a cash deposit to a LOC or vice versa, provided that the requirements of this directive are met in full. An existing security deposit will only be returned to a licensee once the replacement security deposit has been received and processed by the AER.

4.1 Negotiable Instruments

The AER will only accept one of the following:

- a cheque drawn on the account of the licensee required to provide the security deposit
- a cheque drawn on a legal trust account in the name of the licensee required to provide the security deposit
- a money order identifying the licensee required to provide the security deposit as the payer or remitter
- a bank draft identifying the licensee required to provide the security deposit as the payer or remitter
- an electronic transfer from the account of the licensee required to provide the security deposit

The AER establishes a separate interest-earning trust account with a Canadian chartered bank for each licensee providing a cash deposit with the AER.

The bank is responsible for issuing monthly account statements and annual T-5 statements to a licensee having a cash deposit.

- 10) As these accounts are trust accounts, changes to a security provider's address or other administrative changes must be submitted through the AER's Finance Branch at SecurityDeposits@aer.ca.

4.2 Letters of Credit

- 11) The licensee must submit only renewable, irrevocable LOCs in the form prescribed by this directive issued by an eligible financial institution in the exact legal name of the licensee required to provide the security deposit.

A blank sample LOC form and a blank sample of the demand draft are in appendices 1 and 2.

4.2.1 Nonrenewal of LOCs

- 12) The LOC agreement must stipulate that the issuing financial institution must automatically renew the LOC without amendment.
- 13) The LOC agreement must stipulate that, should the issuing financial institution elect not to renew the LOC, the issuing financial institution must notify the AER of the nonrenewal of the LOC by registered mail addressed to the AER's Chief Financial Officer 60 days before the expiry date.

4.2.2 Cancellation of LOCs

14) If a financial institution wishes to cancel a LOC before its renewal date, it must notify the AER's Chief Financial Officer of its intention by registered mail 60 days before the proposed cancellation date.

4.2.3 Amending LOCs

A licensee may amend an existing LOC held by the AER to meet incremental security deposit requirements.

15) An amendment to an existing LOC must be received by the AER by the date stipulated in the letter advising the licensee of the increased security deposit requirement.

A licensee may also amend an existing LOC to reflect a lower security deposit requirement. However, it may elect to maintain a LOC in excess of its current security deposit requirements.

16) Within 30 days after any change that would affect an existing LOC (e.g., corporate name change or amalgamation), a licensee must provide the AER with an appropriate amendment to that LOC.

5 Use of Security Deposits

Security can be collected at any time and used for any of the intended purposes set out in section 1.100(2) of the OGCR, section 11(2) of the GRDR, and section 13(2) of the BMRDR.

17) If the amount of security held by the AER to meet a security deposit obligation is reduced by costs incurred by the AER or the Orphan Well Association for any of the purposes for which the security was provided, the licensee must provide additional security as required by the AER.

If the financial security used by the AER or Orphan Well Association proves to be inadequate, the difference between the security deposit held and the cost incurred constitutes a debt payable to the AER or to the AER to the account of the Orphan Fund.

If a security deposit lodged with the AER to satisfy a liability management program requirement exceeds the amount of the requirement, and the amount of security required by a liability management program increases, the AER may allocate any portion of the excess security deposit to satisfy the increased security deposit requirement without the consent of the licensee providing the security deposit.

6 Use of Interest Accrued from Security Deposits

The interest earned on the trust accounts cannot be applied to outstanding or future security requirements. The AER will only refund accumulated interest when the approval holder is eligible for a refund of its entire security deposit.

7 Refund of Security Deposits

The AER expects parties to maintain a record of their AER security deposits and to request a refund when eligibility criteria are met and all obligations are addressed.

The AER will refund security deposits in accordance with the rules and the policy or program-specific criteria contained in the rule or directive under which the deposit was required. Program-specific criteria for the refund of security deposits are contained in the directives implementing the liability management programs.

A licensee no longer required to provide a security deposit under any OGCR, GRDR, or BMRDR liability management program or policy and that is compliant with AER requirements may request a refund of its security deposit.

- 18) A licensee must be compliant with AER requirements to be eligible for a refund of a security deposit in excess of any AER liability management program or policy.
- 19) The licensee must submit a written request for a refund by courier, mail service, or email addressed to [Directive068@aer.ca](mailto:Directive068@ aer.ca).
- 20) The refund request must include the applicant's contact name, phone number, and email address, and must be submitted on company letterhead.
- 21) The licensee must describe in their refund request how they meet AER liability management program or policy-specific criteria for a security refund.

The AER will only consider a refund request from and refund a security deposit to the licensee that placed the deposit or, if appropriate, a trustee, receiver, or receiver manager. Only a director or senior corporate officer of a company may submit a request for a refund.

A request for a refund of security will trigger a holistic assessment of the licensee. If the holistic assessment of the licensee indicates that there is a risk and that security is still required to offset that risk, security will not be refunded. If the holistic licensee assessment indicates that the risk has been sufficiently reduced or if the security has been replaced with other security acceptable to the AER, a refund or partial refund of security may be warranted.

Where the AER is satisfied that all the eligibility criteria for full or partial refund are met, the AER will refund security deposits as follows:

- For LOCs, when there are no remaining security deposit requirements, the AER will return the LOC to the licensee that provided the security deposit. If there are reduced but continuing security deposit requirements, the AER will permit the amendment or substitution of an LOC for a reduced amount equal to or exceeding AER security deposit requirements.
- For cash deposits, when there are no remaining security deposit requirements, the AER will refund the full amount of any security deposit plus accumulated interest to the licensee that provided the security deposit. If there are reduced but continuing security deposit requirements, the AER will refund the difference between the security deposit held and the security deposit requirements or a lesser amount, if requested by the licensee. The AER will only refund accumulated interest when a licensee is eligible for a refund of its entire security deposit.

8 Viewing Security Deposits

A licensee can view information on the type and amount of any security deposit made to the AER in accordance with this directive through the Digital Data Submission (DDS) system. Details on interest earned on cash deposits is not available on DDS but can be obtained from financial statements provided by the financial institution administering the trust account.

9 Availability of Information

The AER will make available through liability management reporting the security held for industry and licensees. This includes the following:

- Licensee-specific total security held by the AER, such as for oil and gas, geothermal and brine-hosted mineral development.
- Industry or licensee-specific security summarized by purpose or program it was required under, such as transfer security, closure quota security.
